Registration Day

Every journey begins with long-term preparations and last minute details. The students of Campbellsville College begin their journey into the future in a similar manner. Registration day is the first step in their journey and is remembered as only a hazy view of many new faces.

Left: Maribeth Stokes and Cathy Ayers are the last people to see when going through the business office line.

Returning students use the first day to renew old friendships and to discover what happened to everyone else during the summer.

Getting established in new surroundings is a tiresome task each student at Campbellsville College undertakes each year. Campbellsville Baptist Church provides soft drinks on the first day to refresh worn out bodies.

in.*

Gerald Chafin.*

leben take a break.*

Middle Right: Rita Sims and Mary Ann Toombs and friends share last moments together.

each other with a hug.*

BSU Picnic

Each year the Baptist Student Union sponsors a "get acquainted" picnic for all the students and faculty. This is the first opportunity for Christian fellowship the students have. This year's was held under a cloudy sky. However, the students did enjoy good food and recreation.

Middle Right: Oops! On the grass, two demerits!

Middle left: Come on America, show us your legs.

Middle right: Kiss me, I've got the signal.

Bottom left: I don't know if I can go out with you this Friday night.

 Bottom right: Karen Sweazy puts time in on the art of studying.

Right: Just thinking.

Bottom right: Who will win, Bev or Ron?

 Middle right: Dr. Bennett helps Rusty Broughton

 Top right: Janice Yong and Phyllis Luttrell compare notes.
 Bottom right: Beth Peters is often seen cutting hair. This time is for Dallas.

Top right: Tom Caldwell likes to have class outside instead of inside.

 Top right: Dr. Bob Doty out of the classroom.
 Middle left: Dr. Frank Cheatham is another avid fan of the Tigers.
 Right: Music teachers, Moore and Hodges, listen to art teacher, Clark.

 Right: The college library is indeed a place of study for Melanie Suckow.

President's

An annual event at Campbells-ville College is the President's reception. Students and faculty members use this opportunity to get acquainted. This year members of the faculty displayed arts and crafts that each had made during the past year, proving that teachers have human qualities, too. The displays were well received by the students.

Reception

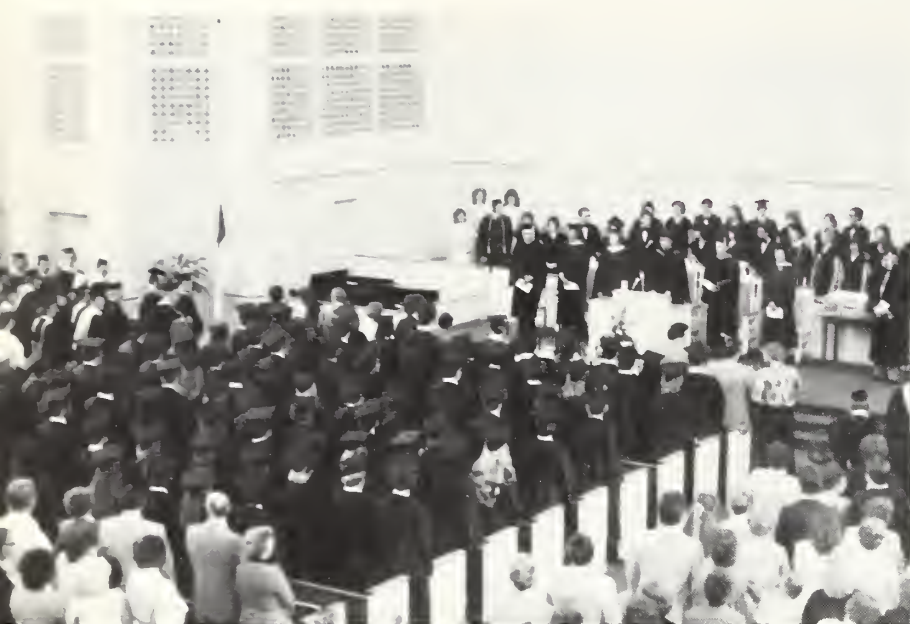

Top: Debbie McCandless, Debbie Keeton, and Ruth Dyer enjoy chatting about fine arts.

Bottom: Mr. Jeffries talks about his dinosaur hobby.

Top: Gathering together to chat.

Bottom: Gazing at the events is Carol Robinson.

1983 Graduation

Top right: Co-valedictorians Elizabeth Barlow and Margaret Collison.

 Middle left: The college brass ensemble provided music for the ceremony.
 Middle right: Waiting before the big hour.

Mighty heated...

The Campus Tymes/Feb. 7, 1983/3

Let's clear the air between the Administration and me

Today's column is devoted to clearing some of the air between myself and the Administration. Let me tell you—the air does get somewhat heated at times.

First of all, I'd like to withdraw the words "pure" and "mere" from my editorial in the last issue on propaganda.

Secondly, I apologize if any of my so-called name-calling is taken offensively. It wasn't intended to be. I use satire to either entertain or persuade; if I mix the two it may become confusing (for this I apologize).

However, I don't apologize for the basis or the facts in any of my editorials, columns or entertaining writings. I'm only trying to point out important things and keep the paper lively.

To clear up some other points on my propaganda article, I will reiterate.

To begin with, my word "propaganda" may be toned down somewhat to the word "publicity." However, the classic definition of the first seems to me to fit better.

My basis for that article was the printing of brochures that didn't tell the whole story, the slight mention sometimes of mandatory convo to many prospective students and a general covering-up of negatives on this campus.

For instance, the "Tymes" isn't used in PR exhibits. Why? Because we're too controversial? The yearbook is used; why not the student newspaper which reflects life at the College on a more immediate level, telling all as fully and accurately as possible.

Resignations are often held under wraps, and rarely ever do

I see a release in the CKNJ that tells about those leaving, only about those coming in. Community people may soon believe we're expanding, because we add so many new people and rarely tell who left or why.

Another example of holding back some negative news was in the handling of the retention study. I had to go to clever means to obtain a copy of those results. They weren't being released at the time. It would be interesting to know how much follow-up this enlightening report is receiving.

Next, the Administration has always been reluctant to be evaluated by the faculty and students, even though submitting to evaluation is an essential step in good public relations. Several times the faculty have agreed to being evaluated by students, and yearly they are evaluated by the Administration. Evaluation is not necessarily bad. Why, the Administration might make all A's or B's anyway (with maybe a C or two).

Concerning another issue, I've been accused by a few persons of alienating the students. I certainly haven't intended to. Furthermore all letters sent to me have been published, including those critical of me and the "Tymes."

I don't mind pressure and I don't mind flack. I print what I think is fair and important.

If I make a mistake, I don't mind to be criticized (ask L.D. Kennedy if you don't believe me). However, I do feel that a Christian college must be free to engage in open, independent thinking and dialogue without fear of consequence.

Admittedly, a free, relevant press at times poses problems for a college, but it is more educational and Christian than a controlled "tame press" which offends no one because it avoids all controversial matters. (Even Jesus raised probing, embarrassing questions of the religious establishment of His day, and he sometimes made shocking, uncomfortable observations.)

My job (if you call putting out nine papers a year for no pay and no credit, a job) is to provide an entertaining paper with important news to the students, faculty and Administration.

I think I've done that. I won't say that I haven't made mistakes. For those mistakes, I apologize. For my efforts to focus on problems and weaknesses that need to be resolved, I cannot apologize—that would be to play the role of a coward and not a Christian journalist.

This paper has been free of censorship for many years, and I appreciate this as a journalist. We've got L.D. Kennedy to thank for a large majority of that.

I want it to stay uncensored. I assure you that I'm not going to get too far out of bounds.

A free college press is a necessity and especially at a private college.

I'm not a radical trying to lead a rebellion. I'm just trying to make this place better for the next crop of students that visit here.

Thanks for the space.

Intrusion shows lack of respect for students' ability

According to the Constitution of the United States of America, people have the right to a fair and orderly assembly.

After a glance at "Webster's," we've discovered that Campbellsville College students still qualify as people.

Therefore, the Administration of this institution has no right in being upset over the recent session SGA assembled on gripes.

SGA may be a privilege granted by the Administration of private colleges, but right to assemble is a constitutional right.

Furthermore, SGA officials had nothing but good intent for the outcome of the session. It was conducted both legally and ethically.

Would the Administration have been happier if the students had assembled outside College grounds? We think not, but an assembly of this kind is legal.

The meeting was intended to be closed to Administrators in order for students to feel less pressure in voicing their opinions. A session discussing the problems with the Administration was to be held later.

However, two administrators did intrude on the meeting. Regardless of their intent, students felt betrayed and called for adjournment due to their intrusion.

Is it necessary for students to look for alternative locations to hold assemblies in order to keep them closed to Administration?

Problems at this College may be minimal or greater than meets the eye. That doesn't matter in this case.

The fact is that we, as students, weren't respected enough by the Administration to hold a closed orderly meeting of the student body without Administrative interference.

Furthermore, we've been told that the organizer of this session has gone through some very "delicate" times lately as have many who in the past have voiced their opinion at the College.

The intent is not to take over, but to work with the Administration to better this institution.

Denying students' rights will not solve the internal problems of this institution. Students must be given freedom to assemble and air the problems and must be treated with respect as mature individuals.

We can make important suggestions in a proper orderly fashion if given the chance to carry out the rights laid down by the forefathers of these United States.

Events of the Week

Each year there is a faculty vs student body volleyball game. Student teams and faculty teams eliminate each other until only one of each is left. This year the faculty won.

Float Builders

A major part of the Homecoming festivities each year is the Saturday morning parade. Each club or organization that enters a Homecoming candidate also enters a float. Production of floats starts about a week before Saturday. No club has outside help; all ideas, materials, and manpower are contributed from members of the clubs and their advisors. Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights are spent in a haze of frenzy as the final push is completed at 9:45 a.m. Saturday.

Administration

They all have distinct personalities

Mr. and Miss Campbellsville

Susan Whatley of Birmingham, Alabama, received the honor of being named this year's Miss Campbellsville. Her academic achievements, leadership qualities, and fine character distinguish her as a person who will accomplish many things. During her college career, Susan majored in physical education, played on the women's basketball, tennis, and softball teams, served on the Stapp Hall dorm council, and was involved in S.N.E.A., B.S.U. choir, student government, and H.P.E.R. Her immediate plans are to do her master's work in physical education and health at the University of Alabama, with the goal of eventually becoming a health administrator.

Gerald Chafin, a native Kentuckian from Inez, received the honor this spring of being selected Mr. Campbellsville. This distinction was awarded by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and reflection of the principles for which Campbellsville College stands. While here, Gerald majored in music education with an emphasis on piano, minored in voice, and earned a teaching certificate. His extracurricular activities included being vice-president of M.E.N.C., serving on the South Hall dorm council, and directing the College/Career Choir of Campbellsville Baptist Church. He plans to go on to Southern Baptist Theological Seminary to major in conducting and piano, and to eventually be teaching music and serving in a church.

Practice Scenes

From "1776"

This year the musical, "1776," was presented to Campbellsville College and friends. The set and costumes were some of the best ever. Faculty, students, and Campbellsville citizens enjoyed the play.

The "1776" congress had to practice hours every night to be letter perfect, but the end result was worth every hour.

The Campbellsville College Library

Last year the plans for an addition to the college library were put in motion by the ground-breaking ceremony.

This fall construction started. The foundation and walls were built, then winter snow and spring rain slowed construction. It's supposed to be finished soon.

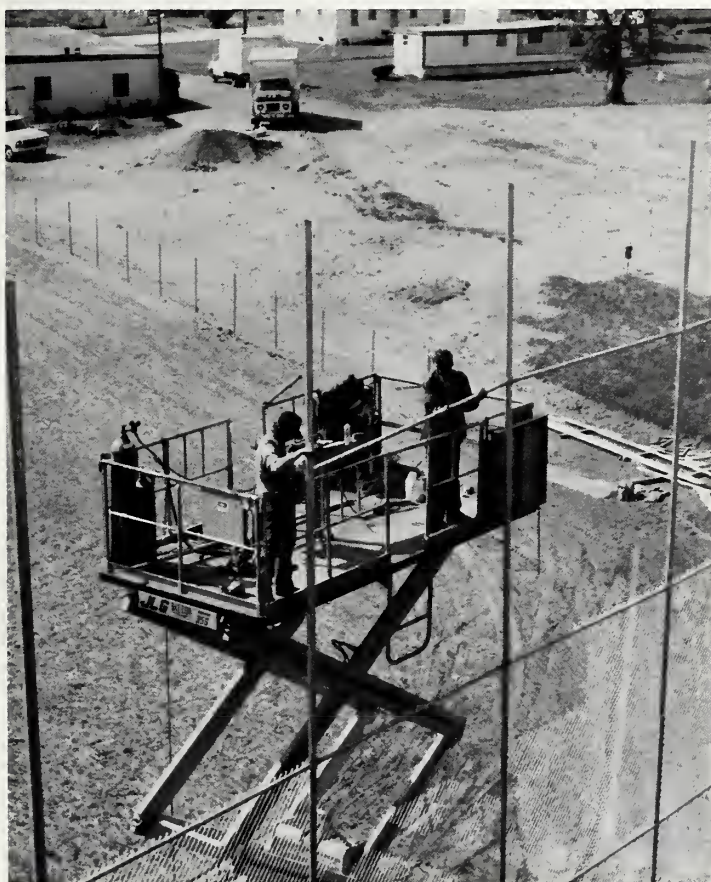

Baseball Diamond Renovations

Last year a new baseball diamond was started for the Campbellsville tigers.

Kingsmen Concert

This year the Baptist Student Union sponsored the Kingsmen Concert for the Campbellsville area. The members of this are well known for their gospel music. Profits from this concert will be used in BSU funds.

David Meece

This year the Student Government Association sponsored the David Meece concert as Homecoming entertainment. The S.G.A. cabinet made David Meece feel welcome as did all the other students.

Night of Talent

This year for the first time, the Harlequins sponsored a "Night of Talent" for students of Campbellsville College to participate in. Steve Miley won 3rd place; Jeff Locke, 2nd; and sharing 1st were Sherri Mumford and Cyndy Hollars.

In memory of the years of devoted service to Campbellsville College we dedicate this edition of the Maple Trail to Dr. Paul Horner. His presence will be missed but his work will not be forgotten.

Editor's Note

In creating this annual the yearbook staff has attempted to lead you through the 1982-83 school year many years from now. We hope you will look back through the year and find this book helpful in remembering small details. Where ever your journeys may take you we hope you will be able to use this year's experience in a successful life.

I wish to thank my staff for their encouragement throughout the year and for their help. They have ways of presenting new ideas that would otherwise be unacceptable. My sincere thanks go to Terri Thompson for the hours she spent in the darkroom when no one else would. Teresa Taylor always came through on the typewriter for me. Lois Roundhouse and Brenda Mowery spent hours going through names and pictures when I didn't have the time to help. My special thanks go to the Campbellsville College Public Relations office. They allowed me to use any of their negatives I needed. The hours put in on this book are greatly appreciated.

Many thanks to all,
Cathie Curry
Maple Trail editor
